Chief –

I just wanted to share this with you prior to your meeting tomorrow in case the workload of the crime lab is a topic of discussion. The attached spread sheets are how the crime lab keeps track of the work they perform throughout the year. As you can see, it's quite substantial.

"Crime Reports" log keeps track of each incident where the work the lab performed results in a crime report. Some work they do, does not result in a report and will not appear on the log. So far, there were over 572 reports written by the lab during 2020.

The "Latent Print" log tracks all incidents where the lab conducted laten print work. Only those latent incidents that resulted in a crime report appear on both the "Laten Print" log and the "Crime Reports" log. So far in 2020, they have conducted latent work on over 465 cases.

The "Shell Casings" log tracks all entries handed off to ATF for NIBIN entry. So far in 2020, there have been over 72 incidents/items handed off to ATF for entry into NIBIN.

With Tim no longer in the rotation for completing this work, the lab has been struggling to keep up with demand. In order to sustain, the are now triaging requests. Violent crimes are being processed first, while the property crimes have been deemed lower priority. Generally, the prints recovered by patrol and PST's for 10851s/459's are no longer being processed, or at least not being processed in a timely manner.

FYI.

Gentleman,

Here are the excel logs for our crime reports including lab, latent log, and shell casings for NIBIN. They should mostly all be up to date. There are a few shooting cases not logged in the crime reports yet.

Any questions let you me know.
